

From sheep to shawl

Carole Miller of Orem demonstrates to students at Sunset View Elementary School how to use a spinning wheel.

Miller and other members of the Yarn

Spinners Guild were at the school to show where wool comes from.

Herald Photo/Patrick J. Krohn

...the Hadleys Thomas Stringam. He married Jeannine Wynn Nov. 2, 1964 in the Salt Lake LDS Temple.

He was a district manager for Moor Mans Manufacturing Co. He coached Little League baseball, basketball and soccer teams and enjoyed watching his children participate in all sports. He was an avid rancher.

He was an elder in The Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints and served a mission to the New England States.

He is survived by his parents, Lethbridge, Alberta, Canada; his wife; four sons and three daughters, Tayna Stringam of Salt Lake City; Troy Stringam of Mission Viejo, Calif; Tricia Stringam of Hawaii; Travis, Tad, Taryn, and Taylor Stringam, all of American Fork; two grandchildren; four sisters and a brother, Myrna Matson, Tacoma, Wash.; Karen Seeley, Blackfoot, Idaho; Arlene Nielson, California; Janice Stringam, Reed Stringam, both of Salt Lake City.

Funeral services will be held Saturday at 10:30 a.m. in the American Fork 8th Ward LDS Chapel, 300 N. 100 E.

Friends may call Friday, 6 to 8 p.m. at Anderson & Sons Mortuary, 49 E. 100 N., American Fork, and one hour prior to services at the church. Burial in the American Fork Cemetery.

Ben Vandegraff

Ben Vandegraff, 77, of Springville, died Sept. 8, 1991, at his home.

He was born Jan. 30, 1914, in Ogden to Peter and Dena Jans Vandegraff. He married Adele Campbell and they were later divorced. He married Betty Greenwell. They were later divorced. He married Gladys Smith. They were later divorced.

He graduated from Weber High School and joined the 145th Field Artillery of the National Guard. In March of 1941 he was assigned to active duty and served in the Asiatic-Pacific Theater of operations WWII. He also served in the Korean conflict, and received special forces training with the 22nd Field Artillery at Ft. Bragg, N.C., and Ft. Benning, Ga. This training included paratroops. He retired from the Army as a lieutenant colonel.

...include the William Anderson appeal because the chief deputy attorney general once defended the Hi Fi killer.

Judge passes guilty verdict

FAIRVIEW — An unnamed juvenile was found guilty of manslaughter in the June 16 shooting death of a 16-year-old Fairview youth, according to Sanpete County Attorney Ross Blackham.

The juvenile was charged in the fatal shooting of Christopher Riches. The guilty verdict was passed down by Sixth Juvenile Court Judge Louis Tervort following the three-day trial last week.

The defendant was found not guilty of aggravated assault against Gordon Everitts Jr., Blackham said.

The juvenile was placed back under the custody of the juvenile court system and returned to juvenile detention in Richfield.

Sentencing will be Sept. 16, after a pre-sentencing report conducted by the probation department of the juvenile court, Blackham said.

NORTH OGDEN (AP) — When the river of mud and rock slammed into the Camarren Cove subdivision Saturday, Terry Fullwiley seemed to be everywhere, warning neighbors, helping women and children, and even rescuing a dog.

He might not think of himself as a hero, but some of his neighbors certainly do.

"He just kept going back to help people," said Carl Gilbert, who lives across the street. His 11-year-old daughter, Lisa, was pulled to safety by Fullwiley after she jumped in a car that quickly became surrounded by mud.

Then it was off to help other neighbors.

"If there's a hero in this thing, I'd say Terry was it," Gilbert said. "He just did that all night long. Whenever he could help someone out, he did."

Ironically, the Fullwiley home was one of the two Camarren Cove homes that sustained the worst damage from the mudslide.

But neighbors said once Fullwiley and his wife Jenny escaped the heavy debris flow without injury, they began helping their neighbors rather than worrying about their own possessions.

Shelia Hadley was at home with her four children, including a newborn delivered by Cesarean section only a week before. She wasn't aware a mudslide had hit until someone knocked on her door and she opened it to see a river of mud and rock.

"The kids ran through the house screaming. 'They were terrified and I was just sick,'" she said.

Fullwiley and another neighbor, Douglas Stewart, appeared on her doorstep. The two men helped the Hadleys wade through a mud-filled side street and Fullwiley flagged down a car that carried the family to a safer place.

Renovation work under way at Provo

Operations will be as normal during the work

By CHRISTI CONOVER
Herald Staff Writer

Construction crews began work at the Provo City Library this week as part of an $159,000 attempt to correct noise and space limitations in the building.

Provo Library Lower Floor

